

Lucian J. Hudson

Position: Partner and Managing Director

Education:

Oxford University, St Catherine's College
MA in Political, Philosophy and Economics

Professional Membership:

Member of the Institute of Directors

Years of Experience: 28

Fields of Experience:

Strategy and communication; advocacy and mediation; crisis management; change management

Countries worked in: Worked on assignments in more than 30 countries including UK, most of EU; USA, Canada and Mexico; India; China; Israel; UAE and Qatar.

Biographical Summary

With a distinguished career spanning BBC, ITV, the City, a dot.com, three British government departments including the Foreign and Commonwealth Office, and more than 30 international assignments, Lucian J. Hudson is a strategic consultant specialising in influencing, advocacy and brokering interests to drive business development. Author of a highly acclaimed report published last year by the British government, Lucian is a world authority on the scope and limits of collaboration and partnerships across private, public and non-profit sectors.

Previous positions he held include Director of Communications at the UK's Foreign Office, the UK government's first ever Director of e-Communications and Head of Programming at BBC Worldwide, the commercial arm of the BBC. At the BBC, he was instrumental in the transformation of various channels, including the Travel Channel.

Lucian worked with both the Dubai government and UAE government, on reviewing their communications strategies and also provided bespoke training to the UAE government's communications cadre.

Lucian chairs the Collaborative Strategies Network, which brings researches collaborative techniques across the public, private and non-profit sectors.

For further information about the consultancy services provided by Lucian J. Hudson, please contact contact@cstoneglobal.com